

ELKS' BIG OUTING FOR THE ORPHANS

Prepare to Make Happy 500
Parentless Children of Washington.

EXCURSION TO LUNA PARK

Committees Arranging Plans to Give Good Time to Homeless
Little Ones.

The committee of the local lodge of Elks which has in charge the arrangements for the orphans' outing to Luna Park on Monday, July 2, has put in a busy week perfecting the minor details, and as there are so many odds and ends to be looked after, one session of the general committee and one of all the subcommittees have been called for the coming week, the former to be held tomorrow night and the latter on Thursday evening, which will be the final meeting.

The committee has received acceptances from six institutions, having in charge 423 orphans. These include the Washington City Orphan Asylum, St. Joseph's, German, St. John's, St. Mary's, and the Deaf Home. Efforts are being continued to locate other institutions, and the committee will be glad to learn the location of any that may have been overlooked.

Feeding the Small Army.

The question of feeding the little ones for the day owing to the fact that all of the eatables and drinkables must be transported from this city, has been quite a task, but a capable subcommittee has to matter well in hand and nothing will be lacking on this part of the program. A subcommittee on toys and games also has been appointed to see that plenty of amusement is furnished the children.

A committee has been assigned to each institution, and the little ones will be called for and returned to their homes by special trolley cars. In the case of the German Orphan Asylum, where a considerable distance separates the institution from the railway line, the use of two touring automobiles has been tendered by F. C. Berens to fill in the gap.

Those on the Committees.

A complete list of the committees is as follows:

General committee on arrangements—Col. James M. Dunn, chairman; Julius W. Nig, secretary; Sol Morris, P. J. Frey, John H. Carpenter, George A. Brooks, Emil G. Schafer, J. D. Frazee, Fred J. Mersheimer, Charles H. Utermehle, Charles W. Campbell, Robert M. McWade, East W. Emery, and John M. Kline, Jr.

The following are the subcommittees on asylums, the figures after each institution denoting the number of orphans and attendants:

Washington City Orphan Asylum—102; Sol Morris, Perry J. Allen, J. J. Dieter, J. H. Leonhardt, and S. D. Bronson.

St. Joseph's Asylum—151; P. J. Frey, Richard A. Brien, G. O. Davis, P. E. McKenna, J. Henry Buscher, and William McGulir.

Ward, Louis Koehler, Louis Hartig, Marshall L. Smith, Albert Sillers, H. O. Gartner, Martin Scheider, Joseph Williams, Balsey F. Sayer, James L. Feecey, and William A. Lettinger.

Entertainment committee—William H. Santelman, John M. Kline, Jr., W. A. Sullivan, P. M. Becker, and Frank A. Robstock.

Committee on refreshments—J. M. Dunn, Charles P. Stohman, Joseph J. Leary, John M. Carpenter, A. W. Barton, Thomas A. Cannon, Frank M. Finley, William A. Enger, Anton Pasagno, F. J. Swart, Fred H. Geyer, Louis Koehler, George A. Garner, John E. Fugels, and J. J. Fingles.

Badges for the Orphans.

Each child and attendant will be furnished a handsome souvenir badge of unique design. The local railway schedules will be so arranged that the little ones will arrive at the Mt. Vernon depot at 12:15 p. m. and immediately thereafter the special train will begin the trip for Luna Park. The return trip will be made about 11 p. m.

HOUSE DECLARES COUDREY ELECTED OVER WOOD

The House passed a resolution yesterday, declaring that Representative Harry M. Coudrey, Republican, is the winner in his contested election against Ernest E. Wood, Democrat, from St. Louis, Mo. Mr. Coudrey was sued in the local courts a few days ago for a board bill, when Col. O. G. Staples claimed Mr. Coudrey owed him.

Old World Immigrant Hordes Flooding Our Ports of Entry

Polish Mother of Twenty-six With Her Nine Children.

Bureau of Immigration Shows That Tidal Wave of Aliens Has Hit This Country.

Immigrant travel toward the United States is swelling to great proportions. This fact is observed from a glance over the record-breaking figures issued from the office of Commissioner General Frank Sergeant, of the Bureau of Immigration, during the last twelve months, showing an unprecedented influx of foreigners who have left their native shores for the purpose of making their homes here—seeking better conditions, better wages, and better living.

The tide of travel to American shores this year has eclipsed all records. Each month shows a steady increase in the inward passenger movement, and the records of the bureau reveal details which are nothing short of astonishing.

Stupendous Figures.

Probably the most stupendous figures ever issued by the office of Commissioner Sergeant for any one month in the history of the United States have just been made public, containing the inward passenger movement. The high-water mark was reached in this month, when 150,927 immigrants, both male and female, were admitted at the many ports along our coasts. Of this number, male aliens numbered 108,812, and the female 42,115. These figures, in the opinion of the officials, are astounding, and, judging from precedents, they are not averse to predicting a still higher record during the month of June, when the alien movement reaches its highest point.

Russians have aided more than any other people in running the alien figures skyward. Internal dissensions in the empire are scaring them in great numbers away from the native hearthstone.

The official statistics show that fewer Italian women are coming to this country than formerly. Among all of the nationalities probably the greatest number of women come from Germany. The German men, unlike those of Italy, want to bring their wives with them. About one-fourth as many Swiss women are admitted now as in former years, though the male immigration from Sweden is just as high.

About one Irish woman to every Irishman reach our shores, and the British female aliens are about of the same proportion. The women of Holland are now flocking to the United States in great numbers, but peculiarly a small percentage pass the regulations, the great majority of them being deported largely because of illiteracy.

The countries of the Far East do not at this time furnish many new people.

OLD DUTCH WOMAN.

This applies not to Japan, but more particularly to China.

The great tide of foreign immigration has been turning toward the United States since 1895, and year by year the tide has been swelling. The scarcity of labor in the agricultural centers of the country is regarded as a potent influence in encouraging this immigration. Large industrial concerns now have their representatives in New York, at which port the bulk of aliens are admitted, awaiting the admission of foreigners capable and willing to work. Seventy-six per cent of the aliens settle in the eastern or middle western States. Thirty-one per cent settle in New York; 20 per cent go to Pennsylvania. A good proportion seek the sparsely populated sections of the South, where the great natural resources in the different States has created an unprecedented demand for good laborers.

Southern Italy's Illiteracy.

From southern Italy, from which comes thousands of people to this country, the illiteracy runs as high as 50 per cent, and at present there is no way of excluding them because of their illiteracy. The majority of the Southern States adopt laws disfranchising the negro because of his illiterate condition, and yet the fact is not concealed that more than half of the Italians admitted to American shores can neither read nor write. The decrease noticeable in the alien travel of the Celts and Teutons and the great increase of the Slav and Mediterranean races has attracted wide attention among members of Congress. The blood now being introduced is not of the kind which was encouraged so heartily in former years.

Girl Crushes Her Lover By a Fall Down Stairs

Her Weight of 260 Pounds Was More Than His Neck Could Stand When She Tripped and Struck Him.

NEW YORK, June 23.—Although it was caused by a really remarkable accident, Miss Murry, of Summit, N. J., is blaming herself for the death of her admirer, James Condren.

Three weeks ago Condren called to see the young woman. "Yes," he was told, "Miss Murry will be down in a minute." She was in her room on the second floor of the house, dressing, in the expectation of receiving the call.

She tripped, in her haste, on the stairs, and tumbled heels over head, falling upon the expectant Condren.

Miss Murry weighs 260 pounds.

Condren was found to be unconscious when Miss Murry, hardly injured by her misadventure, had been assisted to her feet. The young man's neck was broken, the physicians who were called to the house decided. He was taken home with a good prospect of a cure in these days of wonder-working surgery.

It was decided to send him to All Souls' Hospital, in Morristown. Seven specialists attended him there. They agreed that an hour after the long drive from Summit had injured the spinal cord, which was intact before his removal from home.

Condren died shortly after the diagnosis. Miss Murry is in a state of inconsolable grief. It is vain now to tell her that she is not to blame for her admirer's mischanced end.

GIRLS OF SEVENTY SING AT WINONA LAKE PICNIC

Religious Organization of Aged Warsaw Women Holds a Unique Meeting.

WINONA LAKE, Ind., June 23.—The "Girls of Seventy," a society, has held its annual spring picnic at Winona Lake. The society, the members of which object to the term "club," is a Warsaw organization, and the requirements for membership is that a must be seventy years or more of age. The society was organized two years ago for the purpose of obtaining a permanent home in this country for aged women. Meetings are held about every two months, to which some of the "children" of Warsaw, women of fifty or sixty years, are invited. The "Girls of Seventy" is an intensely religious organization. The Scriptures are read at the meetings and hymns are sung.

One of the features at the Winona picnic was the singing of hymns which were sung decades ago by the fathers and mothers of the members. There are some brilliant story-tellers in the society—women who have helped in the making of history in Northern Indiana.

Mrs. Nancy Royse, ninety-four years old, mother of former Congressman L. W. Royse, is one of the chief workers in the society, and her son made the chief address at the Winona picnic.

GIRL SOUGHT DEATH, FOUND A HUSBAND

Attempted Suicide Has Sequel in Her Marriage to a Former Sweetheart.

ST. LOUIS, June 23.—When Katie Jones, of 626 South Broadway, took carbolic acid two weeks ago she meant to kill herself because she had lost the love of Henry Zang, on whose account she had committed suicide and Miller had attempted self-destruction.

Jones met Zang a month ago at the funeral of Eva la Pearl, who killed herself an hour after Zang had told her that he would have nothing more to do with her. Zang was attentive to her for two weeks, and then he threw her over. She imitated Eva la Pearl, but her life was saved.

When the story of her attempt at suicide was published, Charles Rogers read it. He had been her childhood's sweetheart, but had not seen her for several years. The story of her misfortunes rekindled the fires of love, and he wrote to her. The wedding was short. Rogers was not fickle. He was just a hard-working locomotive engineer, and he meant business.

Miss Jones accepted him, and they met in East St. Louis. They hadn't exactly planned to get married at this meeting, but Rogers was so persistent that Miss Jones consented to accompany him to the license office, and later to the justice, who tied the knot.

PURE FOOD EXHIBIT PLANNED FOR FALL

Committee Arranging Details for Big Show at Convention Hall.

SPACE ALREADY ENGAGED

Manufacturing Grocers All Over the Country Interested in the Display.

So great was the success of last year's convention of the National Food Show and Industrial Exposition given under the auspices of the Washington Retail Grocers' Protective Association that plans have already matured for the repetition of the display on a larger scale than the first exhibit. The date set is December 3 to 15, next.

The show will be held in Convention Hall, and it is expected that every foot of the 40,000 square feet of floor space will be taken long before the day of placing exhibits comes, November 20. Already more than half the floor space has been engaged by manufacturers of pure foods from cities in every part of the country.

Last Year's Success.

During the twelve days that the exhibit was open to the public at Convention Hall last year, the attendance is estimated at 118,000, making the average attendance of 10,000 daily a conservative estimate.

As an argument for the belief that this year's exhibit will be even more successful than last, those who have the matter in charge point to the new food law that is pending. They also say that in the face of the great agitation the country has witnessed in behalf of true and honest values during the past year, the patronage of the exhibit which will show just how the food is made will be more generous than ever before.

Grocers Will Distribute Tickets.

Tickets good for part admission will be distributed to grocers in Washington and the adjacent suburbs. These tickets, with a trivial outlay in cash, will entitle the holder to admission in the hall, and when once inside the established policy of the exhibitors is to make everyone their guests.

The personnel of the committee which have the arrangements for the exhibit in charge assure its success. The committee, many of whom were largely responsible for last year's show are: P. B. Otterback, chairman; J. F. Schneider, J. H. Goodrich, H. I. Meador, M. Goddard, R. E. Smith, E. F. Hall, W. L. Hart, O. S. Humphrey, H. S. Haight, L. F. Lusby, William T. Davis, P. P. Patrick, A. H. Pitt, E. E. Fisher, Otto Rupert, Charles J. Magill, John F. Wilmet, and Charles F. Diggs.
